Library terms of Use

Medical-scientific library provides its readers with literature in three ways:

1. Most of books are available in reading halls
2. Manuals of SSMU are available for home reading
3. And all students have access to the digital resources

The library gives manuals of SSMU on hands for one academic year or one semester - depending on the discipline.

Attention!

You must return the literature that was on your hands after the end of session.

If you do not return it in time, there will be charged a fine! (it grows with the time).

Students who take books out of the reading hall will also be fined.

Don't lose your library card!
Recovery is paid.

Computer class in Library information Center is open in the same hours

Your library card

You get it during your first visit to the library and need it to get printed books or access to its digital analogs.

The number of library card is your personal password to the Remote access window (see pg.5,7), and login is your surname written with capital letter in Latin transliteration.

You can visit reading halls in all our units (look at the opening hours, pg. 1).

All our units have desktop computers and Wi-Fi.

24/7 reading hall

You can take books for use in the reading hall in the follow time:

Weekdays - from 8 am to 8 pm

Saturday - from 10 am to 6 pm

Sunday - from 10 am to 5 pm

During the night you can read your own books and manuals of SSMU or use computers.

CLINICAL KEY

Links to books of Clinical Key often lead to main page of database instead of book content. You should close the page and open it again to

ClinicalKey

ClinicalKey is a big clinical database for clinicians and medical students. It contains a lot of well illustrated textbooks, guidelines, medical journals and videos.

Clinical Key has two ways to find a book or information:

Search – searching by keywords in all types of content. You will get list of both book chapters and journal articles. Then you can filter search results by discipline, type of content etc.

Browse – searching in the catalogue by the title. First of all you should to choose a category (for example “books” or “journals”) and then enter a title or part of it. Also you can just choose category and collection (for example, “Anatomy” or “Medical education”) and see the list of all titles in this category.
